

Control Circles

INSTRUCTIONS:

- This is a helpful exercise to do when you're struggling to figure out what parts of your life you need to seize control of and responsibility for and which parts you can or need to let go of.
- Fill out all the components of a situation that you have complete control of, some influence over (but no control), and absolutely no control at all.

